WHY I WANT TO SERVE IN THIS LEADERSHIP ROLE.

WHAT I PLAN TO CONTRIBUTE TO THE ORGANIZATION

It is my desire to continue to bring the St. Louis area into the “Green Forefront”; to expand my reach to embrace bigger, greener and better projects throughout the country. I have recently accepted the position of Director of Sustainability (of St. Louis office) with Middough, Inc. in order to realize this goal. My career speaks of just a portion of what I bring to this position:

- taught college graduate school level on sustainability and daylighting
- designed nearly 100 green homes over the past 27 years working with owners & builders
- lectured to other professionals locally and at Greening the Heartland
- published locally & nationally in print, television and radio

I would like to teach others about good, sustainable, green design and practices and would hope to contribute to USGBC’s local and national agenda.

I have been quite active in the St. Louis Chapter for 6-7 years, serving on four committees and subcommittees: Advocacy, Program, and Green Homes and Green Schools Subcommittees of Advocacy. I am also a member of the Chapter’s Speakers Bureau and a volunteer docent at the Missouri Botanical Garden’s EarthWays Center. I am a registered architect with 27 years specializing in sustainable architecture. As a LEED Accredited Professional, I have worked on two projects receiving LEED certification – William A Kerr Foundation Headquarters (Platinum) and Freize Harley Davidson (Gold).

WHY I WANT TO SERVE IN THIS LEADERSHIP ROLE.

WHAT I PLAN TO CONTRIBUTE TO THE ORGANIZATION

I have been active on the membership committee for two years and am well acquainted with the vital role that the membership committee plays in the local USGBC chapter. I feel that my active participation in the committee will provide a seamless transition for the committee. While maintaining the past roles of the membership committee, I plan to further engage the members on the diverse benefits of our local chapter in order to improve the individual and collective chapter experience. I will also work with other committees to utilize the resources of the membership committee for membership feedback. I am passionate about sustainability and the pivotal position of USGBC to invigorate the local community

I have been a LEED AP for two years ago, acting as the LEED mechanical liaison within our firm. I am active in CSI (Construction Specification Institute) on the program committee and ASHRAE (American Society of Heating, Refrigeration, and Air Conditioning Engineers) on the research and program committee and as the TEGA (Technology, Energy, and Government Affairs) chairman. This places me in a unique position to promote USGBC membership to yet another sector of our industry.
